

Accessibility Checklist:

| Feature | Why | Implemented |
|--|--|--|
| !DOCTYPE HTML | Helps screen readers | Yes - on HTML |
| Font size set as a % or em | Allows user to change font size to their liking | Yes, and all containers used a % for width and height on CSS |
| Font is Sans Serif | Recommended on British Dyslexia Association website | Yes - font used is Dosis (child friendly too) |
| Try to make colours dyslexia friendly | Most users prefer dark print on a pale background. Colour preferences vary. | Yes |
| Alt text for images | Helps screen readers | Yes |
| Something to show you are hovering over the button | Helps user to know that it is a button - i.e. to expect something will happen when it is clicked | Yes - colour change implemented on mouse hover |
| Test site with Colour Oracle | To ensure site provides a good experience if you do not have 100% colour vision | Yes - colour palette chosen specifically to ensure this. Green and red colours avoided where possible. |